Very disappointed in the clear message ehre to big business - do what you like, as long as you're rich and powerful. MS has been demonstrated to have broken the law, has been called to task for it, then rewarded by the courts with a blank slate for furthering their monopoly with a token gesture to donate PCs and SW to schools. The cost in SW to the company is not the reported $1Billion, but actual cost is $0. Not only that, they get to elbow their way into education, knowing that ina year or so the schools will have ot upgrade.

Not good. Please reconsider.

If someone breaks the law, they should be held accountable.
